

An Intermediate Level Study Guide for
Pond Punkies: Book One, The Arrival
By Marie B. Mulholland, NBCT, M.Ed.
for Grades 4 and Up

Note: The lessons and activities contained in this plan address each of the following standards except Standard 10 which specifically refers to students for whom English is a second language.

The Standards as written by The National Council for Teachers of English and the International Reading Association, 1996:

1. Students read a wide range of print and non-print texts to build an understanding of texts, of themselves, and of the cultures of the United States and the world; to acquire new information; to respond to the needs and demands of society and the workplace; and for personal fulfillment. Among these texts are fiction and nonfiction, classic and contemporary works.
2. Students read a wide range of literature from many periods in many genres to build an understanding of the many dimensions (e.g., philosophical, ethical, aesthetic) of human experience.
3. Students apply a wide range of strategies to comprehend, interpret, evaluate, and appreciate texts. They draw on their prior experience, their interactions with other readers and writers, their knowledge of word meaning and of other texts, their word identification strategies, and their understanding of textual features (e.g., sound-letter correspondence, sentence structure, context, graphics).
4. Students adjust their use of spoken, written, and visual language (e.g., conventions, style, vocabulary) to communicate effectively with a variety of audiences and for different purposes.
5. Students employ a wide range of strategies as they write and use different writing process elements appropriately to communicate with different audiences for a variety of purposes.
6. Students apply knowledge of language structure, language conventions (e.g., spelling and punctuation), media techniques, figurative language, and genre to create, critique, and discuss print and non-print texts.
7. Students conduct research on issues and interests by generating ideas and questions, and by posing problems. They gather, evaluate, and synthesize data from a variety of sources (e.g., print and non-print texts, artifacts, people) to communicate their discoveries in ways that suit their purpose and audience.
8. Students use a variety of technological and information resources (e.g., libraries, databases, computer networks, video) to gather and synthesize information and to create and communicate knowledge.
9. Students develop an understanding of and respect for diversity in language use, patterns, and dialects across cultures, ethnic groups, geographic regions, and social roles.

10. Students whose first language is not English make use of their first language to develop competency in the English language arts and to develop understanding of content across the curriculum.
11. Students participate as knowledgeable, reflective, creative, and critical members of a variety of literacy communities.
12. Students use spoken, written, and visual language to accomplish their own purposes (e.g., for learning, enjoyment, persuasion, and the exchange of information).

I. Pre-reading Activities

Teacher Notes:

1. To “hook” students on the novel, have them respond to the first journal entry on page 6 and have them share their responses with a partner or in small groups. Choose four or five individuals to share their entries. Explain to students that the main character in the novel they are going to read shares an adventure with his best friend.
2. To give students an understanding of the backdrop and genre of the novel, have students complete the “K” column and the “W” column of the K-W-L graphic organizer on page 7. Provide time during the unit for students to conduct individual research on their chosen topics. When they have finished their research, have them record their findings in the “L” column of the K-W-L. You may want to reserve time for students to share their findings with the class.
3. To pique their interest in the novel, have students complete the scavenger hunt on page 8 using their copies of the novel. This could be done in pairs or individually; in either case, having the activity completed as a competition for some sort of prize or points would be a good idea.

Journal Entry #1 -- Descriptive

Think about your best friend. Describe your best friend. Try to answer as many of these questions as you can in your description. (Who is your best friend? What does he or she look like? What kind of person is your best friend? How are you and your friend alike? How are the two of you different?)

Research Project (K-W-L)

Choose one of the following topics to research. After choosing a topic, fill in the “K” column, telling what you already know about the topic. Then, fill in the “W” column to list what you’d like to know about the topic (You may use questions). After you have researched your topic, fill in the “L” column to list the facts you have learned. Be prepared to share your research and where you found your information.

- Topics:
- | | |
|------------|------------|
| 1. Jupiter | 5. Mercury |
| 2. Saturn | 6. Venus |
| 3. Uranus | 7. Earth |
| 4. Neptune | 8. Mars |

Pond Punkies: Book One, The Arrival
Open-book Essay

Directions: Respond to the following prompt by writing an original multi-paragraph essay. Be certain to use quotations from the book to support your ideas.

Prompt: Trace Blaze's growth from the adventure in the Unknown Zone through the defeat of the Tritonan's. Use his growth to show how the author develops one of the themes of the novel such as leadership and/or responsibility.

Enrichment Projects

1. Using some of the main characters from this book, write your own adventure for them.
2. Choose a chapter from the novel and rewrite it from a different character's point of view.
3. Use the vocabulary from three or more chapters and create your own crossword puzzle.
4. Design a board game using the characters as game pieces. Use the events of the novel to write challenging questions that must be answered to advance on the game board.
5. Imagine that you are Blaze. Write a friendly letter to Ember telling her about your adventure saving Earth from the Tritonans. Tell how you felt and how you changed. Use appropriate friendly letter format.
6. Design an internet profile or webpage for one of the characters from the novel. Compose three or more blog entries or emails.
7. Choose a significant event from the novel and work with other students to act out a skit depicting the event. Make costumes that reflect the characters.
8. Choose a scene from the novel which is not already illustrated. Draw, paint, or sculpt your interpretation of the scene.
9. Using a visual, musical, or poetic representation, show how Blaze evolves from the beginning of the novel to the end.
10. Write a review of the book. Tell about what you liked and did not like about it. Email a copy of the review to the author.
